On the announcement of the death Reichsrath adjourned amid great excitement. The court theaters and all places of amusement are closed this evening.

Many persons here still refuse to believe that death resulted from apoplexy. All kinds of rumors of shooting by accident or design are current. The Crown Prince always slept with his bedroom door ajar, but on the morning of his death the door was found locked. This fact is the subject of much comment.

A Decision Dismissing the Government's Suit.

Santa FE (N. M.), Jan. 30.—IBy the Associated Press. The Supreme Court of New Mexico today gave its decision in the Maxwell land-grant case, affirming the title to that property and dismissing the bill of the Government to set aside the patent. The history of the case in brief is as follows: Shortly after the bill of the Government was brought in Colorado, a similar bill was filed in the United States courts in New Mexico, to be held in abeyance until after the former suit was tried. Judge Brewer dismissed this suit, and the Supreme Court of the United States sustained him. Notwithstanding this the Department of Justice ordered the New Mexico suit, involving precisely the came evidence and questions of law to be prosecuted, resulting in lift dismissal by the Judge of the District Court on a demurrer, which decision was today sustained by the higher court. This is doubtless the claim act by the Department of Justice, at not likely that they will wish to again before the Supreme Court.

On investigation it was found that an accident had occurred at the place indicated, one of the cars on place indicated, one of the cars on the one-horse line having been run into by the switch engine of the Southern Pacific and the horse killed. The car was empty at the time, and the driver escaped injury by jumping in time. This crossing is one of the most dangerous in the city, and there have been quite a number of narrow escapes at this place. The matter has been repeatedly called to the attention of the authorities, but so far nothing has been done toward lessening the danger. At 10 o'clock the matter was postponed until 1 p.m.

Afternoon Session At 1 o'clock Arizona Haines took up the argument for the defendants. He read the complaint and cited a number of authorities showing that a receiver could not be appointed on the showing made by the plaintiffs, Col. Eastman and Mr. Austin, two of the stockholders in the Trombone two of the stockholders in the Trombone concern.

Col. Treat followed for the plaintiffs and argued that the cases cited by the deiendants were considered by the Supreme Court under the old Constitution of the State, while the present case is under the new Constitution and that the law under this instrument is very much charged. Counsel claimed that the Court had a perfect right to appoint a receiver. Col. Treat them took up the complaint and went on to show that the affairs of the concern are being managed by a few of the stockholders who have it in their power to seriously injure the large interests of the complaining stockholders. He went on to show that four of the stockholders—H. H. Boyce, H. E. Smith, H. T. Payne and W. H. THE ARSON CASE.

MORE DAMAGING TESTIMONY AGAINST LEWIN.

the Night Clerk of the New United States Hotel Tells His Story-Lewin, the Defendant, on the Stand-The Gas Jets Turned On.

examination of Robert Lewin charged with setting fire to his saloon, in the basement of the United States Hotel, was resumed in Justice Austin's court yes terday, and consumed the entire day. The following witnesses were examined on the part of the People: Henry G. Balke, bar-tender in the Vienna Buffet. A. Kiesshoer, bartender; S. G. Woodhouse, night clerk in the United States Hotel; Peter L. Maso ehl, former member of fire department Frank Dryden, fireman; H. J. Smith; Thomas Romero, blacksmith, and L. A.

The testimony of all the witnesses was substantially the same as that introduced

MR. WOODHOUSE, night clerk in the United States Hotel, said: "I was in the office at the time the fire broke out, which was about 12:30 or 12:40 o'clock. The people in the hotel had all retired, with the exception of one. There were about 100 or 150 persons in the hotel at the time. I was in the office when hotel at the time. I was in the office when I heard quite a number of people down stairs shouting, and I asked a conductor who was in the office with me at the time what they were shouting about, and he said he thought it was some drunks, and they shouted again, and then I started to the door to see what was the matter, and the men rushed up stairs and said to turn in an alarm, there was a fire in the basement. So I went back and sent in an alarm. We have telegraph instruments right there—an electric alarm. Then I went down stairs to see what the matter was, but turned back and turned in another alarm, as they had not answered. After I did that I went down the back way to open the gate, a large gate where they carry out swill and stuff; it leads into the court. I opened that to let the firemen come in. It is a wooden large gate where they carry out swill and stuff; it leads into the court. I opened that to let the firemen come in. It is a wooden gate and swings open both ways from the center. The gate was always kept locked in the night time. When the alarm sounded I sent the bellboy down to open the gate, but afterward thought I'd better go down myself; so I lett the office in charge of a young man there and went down with the bellboy. I opened the gate myself. The gate is always locked at night.

FRANK DRYDEN,
called for the people, said he belonged to the fire department. That the night of the fire he was ordered by the Chief to stand ready to break in the front door. He said needy to break in the front door. He said he noticed nothing unusual about the condition of the door, and if it had been broken open before the department got there he thought he would have noticed it. It was light so he would have noticed it. When the order was given he helped to break in the door with an ax.

PAT MARTIN, a hod carrier, was the first witness called a hod carrier, was the first witness called for the defense. He testified to having been in Lewin's saloon the evening of the 24th inst. Said he went into the place about 10:30 o'clock; that he had been in there before that same night—had gone out and then returned. When he came in the second time Mr. Lewin and another man were sitting down at a table opposite the bar. The other man had a deck of cards in his hand. He asked Lewin if he would play a game of casino with him for a drink. Lewin said he would, and they played a game. Lewin beat him, and they took a drink toxether; was not sure whether Lewin drank anything or not. Then Lewin went to put the covers on the billiard tables and "fixing to close up, rem riking," It is closing up time," and the three men walked out of the saloon together, Lewin closing and locking the door. That was about 11 o'clock. Mr. Martin said he noticed nothing unusual about the place, nor could he smell any coal oil.

A. C. RAPHEL.

A. C. RAPHEL said he had known defendant four or five years. That Lewin roomed at his father's years. That Lewin roomed at his father's house and occupied same room with him. Witness said the night of the fire he saw Lewin about 11:45, at which time defendant came into the room. That about 1:30 he was awakened by some one ringing the bell. He ran downstairs and found a messenger for Lewin. He went back upstairs, told Lewin, and they both dressed and got into a hack and drove to the fire. Witness said he could state positively that defendant was in his room from 11:45 until 1:30 or thereabout.

DEFENDANT LEWIN

When the brunt of the testimony came out in this startling manner, there was a titter from the large delegation of school children present, which hilarity was promptly checked by the constable in charge.

District Attorney Kelly promptly moved the dismissal of the case, and the gallant the motion with "My saloon here, when I opened it—the fixtures and all cost me about $5500. It was insured for $2500. Last Thursday night I was in my place of business. I remained there until about 11 o'clock, when I closed everything up as usual, and, in company with Mr. Worthington and Pat Martin I left the place. I never used any coal oil except last Monday two weeks ago, when I got a can to fill my cigar-lighter with. I filled it from a bottle. I did not saturate anything with oil at all. I don't think the can in evidence is the same one I had. I never had but one can of oil at a time, which stood behind the bar next to the wall. After I left the saloon I walked down Main street as far as First, where I stopped and bought some sausage from a man. I walked on to near Second street and there was a police officer teaching there and I saked him to the salos. "My saloon here, when 1 opened it—the tures and all cost me about First, where I stopped and bought some sausage from a man. I walked on to near Second street and there was a police officer standing there, and I asked him to take a drink or cigar. We went into a soloon, took a drink or cigar and then I went on home. I went right to bed and had been asleep about two hours and a half when somebody woke me up. It was Mr. Raphel's son. He said: 'There is some one down stairs in a hack says your saloon is on fire,' to I dressed and rode to the fire. When I got down to my place of business I found Officer McCarthy there. He said to me: 'You have got quite a fire here.' I told him I didn't know anything about it. I went down stairs with him. Two gentlemen were down there and said: 'You have quite a fire here,' I said: 'I' know nothing at all about the fire.' So after looking around a little McCarthy says to me: 'You are under arrest.' On the way to the station and after we got there he asked me when I bought the oil can. I told him three or four weeks ago, and used it last Monday, a week ago. He told me I was the last man out of the place that night and that I set the building afire. I said: 'You will have to prove that.'

one morning he went down to the saloon and found all the gas jets turned on, but not highted; the room was so full of gas that he was afraid to strike a match in it. Miller was asked in cross-examination:

"Did you not, in that same conversation and in that same connection, when you told Osthoff about the gas in that saloon and how you found things there, and one gas jet lighted, that you thought, or that effect, that Lewin had turned those gas jets on and left one of them burning, so as to blow the blasted thing up, or the the thing up, or words to that defect? Didn't you tell him that in that conversation?"

A.: "Yes, sir, I told him that."

Q.: "Was that true or false?" A.: "It is rue: I saw it happen in the cellar."

The examination was continued until to-ay.

Last night quite a surprise was caused by a second raid on the faro game over Bob Eckret's old place on Court street, which was pulled about 8 o'clock and five men captured and taken to the police station, where they gave the names of Dan Murphy, Willie Jones, J. Britton, Jim Brown and Joseph Smith. They were released on ball, and from the fact that the layout, chips and cards were taken along with the men, and they were required to put up $200 for the dealer and $20 each for the players, it looks as though they are to be prosecuted under the State law. There is evidently something more in this raid than appears on the surface. The place was pulled Tuesday night, when enough men were taken to make up $100, which was duly paid, and the proprietor of the game must have done something to incur the displeasure of the Chief of Police to cause the Second visit so soon, with the increased penalty. There may be further developments in the next day or two.

FACTS UNCOVERED AND STATISFICS ANALYZED.

The City's Health Department, its Importance, its Defects and its Duties—Food, Water and Sewerage.

MIL—THE PREVENTION OF DISEASE IN LOS ANGELES.

The city of Los Angeles is no exception to the general rule that communities do not appreciate the importance of the health department. In her case there may, however, be "extenuating circumstances," which it is not my purpose to discuss. Her sanitary department, as is almost universally the case in American cities, has been citched in the briefest authority and most meagerly supported financially and officially. The explanation of this is found in the conservatism which opposes innovations in methods and measures, and in our traditional indifference to these illyunderstood hygienic matters. But this unfortunate conservatism and indifference are no worse here than in other piaces; indeed, their disastrous results are less marked in Los Angeles than in any other city of my observation. And our city, instead of preeminently deserving criticism in sanitary matters, is apparently, of all cities, the one te be most highly commended. For, such recorded mortality reports of the city, as I have been able to consult, show the death rate of Los Angeles than in any other city of my observation. And our city, instead of preeminently deserving criticism in sanitary matters, is apparently, of all cities, the one te be most highly commended. are no worse here than in other piaces; indeed, their disastrons results are less marked in Los Angeles than in any other city of my observation. And our city, instead of preminently deserving criticism in sanitary matters, is apparently, of alicities, the one to be most highly commended. For such recorded mortality reports of the city, as I have been able to consult, show the death rate of Los Angeles to be marvelously low. While I have reason to believe that these reports are not accurate, they closely approximate the truth; and as citizens we have reason to be thankful that our city has probably the very lowest mortality rate of any place in the world. I write the sentence advisedly, and urge attention to the fact that Los Angeles stands at the head of healthy citize of the world. But this is no cause for the world. It is brought about by a clear sky, a balmy air and health-giving breezes, despite our defiance or sickening sewers, miasmatic streets, the uurestricked aggregations of house, the continued with it, is the question of fortune. It is brought about by a clear sky, a balmy air and health-giving breezes, despite our health and the propertion of the city and the propertion of t it so. It is a question for intelligent citizens and all influential bodies to earnestly consider, not only from motives of humanity, but from its financial bearings. How much are these hundred lives worth to usery year? Good authorities have estimated each to be worth to the community, as a mere money-making machine, about $1000. With these figures we can readily understand that Los Angeles could afford to invest $1,000,000 in sanitary regulations, and the investment would net 10 per cent. per annum, or twice that amount if we include, as we should, the saving in sickness and its expenses. But it is probable that a very much less sum would do even more good if expended in judicious sanitation. Let us consider the Health Officer's figures. Taking as an average the 10 months from August, 1887, to May, 1888, inclusive, there were during the period 555 deaths, or at the rate of 155 a year. All sanitarians agree that these diseases can be prevented almost completely by proper hygienic observances. There were also three deaths from alcoholism, and 16 from poisoning, injuries and various accidents; a tolal of 19, or 22 for the year. These, too, are to a certain extent preventable; added to the deaths from zhouded. Carelessness in hygienic matters affects unfavorably all diseases, we have a total of 184 deaths, most of which could be avoided. Carelessness in hygienic matters affects unfavorably all diseases; hence it is probable that proper sanitation would save many lives lost through other diseases than those above enumerated; for instance, in pneumonia, rheumatism, etc. Hence we may conclude that at least 200 deaths may be considered as preventable; and it is safe to believe that half of this number can be saved by sanitation. But most of the mean who imperils health department with proper sanitation would save many lives lost through other diseases than those above enumerated; for instance, in pneumonia, rheumatism, etc. Hence we may conclude that at least 200 deaths may be considered as preventable; and it is saf may conclude that at least 200 deaths may be considered as preventable; and it is safe to believe that half of this number can be saved by sanitation. This is not ideal, but practical.

Among the sickness in our community in 1887 were 120 cases of smallpox, which cost the taxpayers between $25,000 and $30,000 in cash, beside the great individual losses suffered by those families afflicted with this disease.

series individual losses suffered by those families afflicted with this disease.

Smallpox is regarded by sanitarians and scientific medical men as a reproach to civilization; for of all diseases this is the one we can most easily prevent. The Health Officer's report states that of the 120 persons stricken with smallpox, 15 died; and this unusually "low death rate was owing to a large per cent. of the patients having been vaccinated in infancy. Not one died that had ever been vaccinated." In this epidemic the authorities with the commendable sanction and support of the Board of Health and the Mayor proceeded at the outbreak to enforce general vaccination. This was speedily done in spite of ignorant and bigoted opposition in certain quarters. The community was soon vaccinated, and the epidemic ceased. The authorities should be given power to prevent hereafter the visitation of this dreadful scourge. It can be absolutely kept out of our city by vaccination and quarantine. In Philadelphia, with a dozen times our population, not a single case occurred in 1886, owing to an efficient and authoritative health department. Typhoid fever is another disease which can largely be avoided. In 1887, according to the Health Officer's report, two-thirds of the cases would be traced to impure well water, not river water, but well water. Doubtless many cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria, etc., may be at least aggravated by the same cause; but typhoid fever more than any other seems to depend on soil or water pollution. The dangers from this source are invidious; for the disease germs may be in the drinking water without changing its appearance, taste or odor. Thorough ditration may remove some of the dangers from this source are invidious; for the disease germs may be in the drinking water without changing its appearance, taste or odor. Thorough ditration may remove some of the dangers from gory are the many inexcusable accidents which occur in our city, from the cross carelessness of railroad conductors and engineers, drivers and teamsters, builders and contractors; these men caused more than a dozen deaths last year in our city. "What are you going to do about it?" A few severe and richly-deserved punishments would have a salutary effect finally. Much sickness and permanent injury to children can be avoided by more sanitary schoolhouses. These should be considered within the province of a well-regulated health department.

I have made no reference to the evils resulting from opium, alcohol and other influences which competent sanitary authority could do much to diminish. But most of the more important subjects have been alluded to.

To attain the objects so desirable it is essential that the community clothe a competent health department with proper power; that it be supported fully, both financially and officially. No more fitting language can be found to close this paper than the words of Dr. Gihon, in an address before a sanitary convention, Philadelphia, May 12, 1886. He says: "The thorough, effective sanitation which saves life, secures health, contributes to wealth, comfort and happiness, is not cheap; and the mistake which health officers have made and are still making is in accepting, under feeble protest, if any, the petty sums grudgingly doled out by legislative bodies as sufficient to accomplish in any sense the objects of their establishment. It ought to be understood that sanitary tinkering is worse than absolute neglect. A house imperfectly trapped is more dangerous than one reeking with foul smells, through the false sense of security given by its assumed protection; and the health board, with its munificent appropriation of a few hundred or a thousand, or even two, five or ten thousand dollars, for rent, salaries and executive acts is a health board in aame only, and the community under its charge fancies itself clean because it wears a clean shirt over a dirty body and festering

Many believe that we shall soon see a brisk development of the long ne-glected mineral resources of Southern California. The number of prospec tors now in the field, and the interest which is taken in new discoveries, would seem to be promising of such lesirable consummation.

In the early days—the "days of '49"thousands passed through Los Angeles on their way to the northern diggings, ut none of them thought of searching for the precious minerals down here The northern belt-not the "citrus belt" at that time—then had the call. After that came the era of agricultural development, and as Łos Angeles ounty was considered good for little besides stock raising, we did not attract much attention from the outside world. Afterward, the boom came along, and then, of course, nobody cared to dig for gold, when he could make all he wanted by simply dividing his acres by five and asking for each lot five times as much as he would have been glad to have taken previously for an acre.

So it has happened that very little attention has been paid to the mineral resources of this section, notwithstandng the fact that the first discovery of gold in California, by Americans, was made in the San Fernando Mountains, Los Angeles county, in 1838, ten years before Marshall discovered zold at Sutter's mill. Still earlier than that date gold was washed out in this county by Mexicans. The San Feliciana placer diggings, twelve miles northwest of Newhal, were worked from 1810 to 1840 with the aid of Mission Indians. In 1842, finding that these deposits, though worked in a crude manner, paid exceedingly well, the Mexican Government was petitioned to consider the territory between Piru Creek and the Soledad Cañon and extending west of the Mojave Desert, mineral land and that no grant be extended taking in that territory. This petition was granted. 1854 Francisco Garcia took out of the San Feliciana Gulch, in one season,

$65,000 in gold. It is some time since there was any very important discovery of the precious minerals in the Territories. and many prospectors who left California years ago for fields to which distance lent enchantment, are returning to their early love, some of them remaining in Southern California to investigate our mineral resources. Some old prospectors base their prediction of a big mining boom this year on the ten-years' theory, thus: In 1849, California; 1859, Pike's Peak; 1869, Virginia City, Nev.; 1879, Leadville; 1889, (?). Many believe that the 1889 boom will be located in Southern California. If so, however, and if its effects are to be lasting, it must be founded on something more tangible than wild and foolish newspaper re ports of impossible strikes, which are only floated to cause a rush to a certain place for the pur-pose of filling the coffers of hotel men, livery stable keepers and others. For instance, a local journal told the other day of the discovery of a gold ledge near San Bernardino, forty wide, a mile long, and assaying $60 to the ton. Now, a gold ledge, four feet wide, clearly defined for a tenth of a thing. Such statements are silly, and can only result in reaction and disapsolid mining boom is by a systematic the mountains to prospect on shares. Nor need their investigations be confined to a search for deposits of the precious minerals. There is an almost boundless variety of other minerals in this section, among which we may mention coal, fire clay, graphite, antimony, mineral paint and gypsum.

Another thing which should encourage the development of our mining resources at this time is the fact that the early opening of a railroad to Utah will tap a region fertile in fuel and minerals, which will enable us to erect melters and mills in Los Angeles for the economical reduction of ore. Many deposits in this county which are now neezed at will then yield fortunes. Let us work up a mining boom of a olid character—a boom that will stay.

A State which, during the summer months, presents to the unacclimated the constant menace of danger from disease, where the summers are also oppressively hot, even with an attractive winter climate, is not a desirable section for home-making. The climate of Southern California has much more to commend it than has that of any Southern State. The process of acclimation is not here attended with any danger. There are no dis-eases incident to the climate which newcomers need to particularly guard against. It is not a malarious region. There are no summer rains which, joined to a rank and decaying vegetation, produce deadly miasmas. No matter what season of the year the home regions to this section, be home seeker comes to this section he always finds healthy climatic conditions and a favoring temperature. there is scarce a limit to its resources,

No action was taken on Dr. Bryant's resolution requesting the Police Commissioners to close up the gamblinghouses, and suppress the evil, as required by law, at the meeting of the board yesterday, and it is probable that the matter will come up in the Council again next Monday, when a vigorous effort will be made to have the Council take some cognizance of the open and flagrant manner in which the law is violated under the very eyes of the police.

There was one thing, however, which the board slipped through on the quiet, which may cause them some trouble. For over six months past Gustin Dupuy has had an application before the board for a saloon license for a place on Second street, near San Pedro. The old board positively refused to grant a license for this place, owing to the bad reputation of the Dupuy saloon on Los Angeles street, the license for which had to be revoked, it being reported by the police as one of the toughest places in the city, and when Dupuy came before the board and asked for a license it was refused until he could get the consent of three-fourths of the property owners on the block. This he could not do, but hung about the Mayor's office every Wednesday afternoon until Mayor Workman went out of office. His petition came up before the new board, and the status of the case was fully explained to Mayor Bryson and the other members, and he was sat down on for the time being. Yesterday, however, Chief Cooney quietly recommended that it be allowed, and it went through, both Mayor Bryson and Mr. Kuhrts acquiescing. This is the worst fall-down of the new board so far, and will have its effect at the coming election, when the reputable citizens will turn out in sufficient numbers to overcome any supposed ad vantage that the establishment of the dive in the ward will amount to.

Arguments Against Territorial Adm

It would be a good investment for some of our, capitalists to "grub stake" a few of the idle men about town, who have had experience in mineral fields, and send them to some whom designing and unscrupulous politicians may readily acquire a power that I expected to see a building put up on every town lot between here and sand them. The same arguments would hold good in regard to Arizona, judging from the character and labors of the recent Legislatures in that Territory, whose code is now so fearfully muddled that few lawyers are able to tell what is Arizona law.

THE Senate has been discussing the question of classing our envoys to the great powers of Europe as "ambassadors" in place of "envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipótentiary.' Several Senators spoke in favor of abolishing the entire diplomatic service. It would certainly be well, as long as we retain diplomatic representation abroad, to give our envoys equal rank and privileges with the ministers of other nations, if only to insure them facilities in their official intercourse with the powers to which they are accredited.

A USEFUL LIAR

And How He Enlightened the Fence row Brigade at Azusa
Azusa, Jan. 29.—[Correspondence of The Times.] A dilapidated individual arrived in Azusa the other day, and, after taking in the town and the situation with a little anti-prohibition ballast, was about to set sail for the west, when he took exceptions to a remark dropped by a member of a 25-foot row of loafers strung along the fence at the depot. His wardrobe was fence at the depot. His wardrobe was especially adapted to a mild climate; and his general make-up betokened a protracted period of adversity, in which whisky had played its part. In no country this side of heaven could he have been taken for a tenderfoot, Nevertheless, when the loafer made a remark about tenderfeet, the old pilgrim seemed to think it was intended for his benefit.

"Tenderfoot!" said he with scorn, "I've heard that until I'm tired of it. I'll tell you right now I'm not a ten-

I never saw better days, and I'm not hunting for a location. I am not harassed with tempting offers to go back East and take a soft snap. But it's the same old gag—'tenderfoot!' It's followed me across the continent. When I left the beach woods of Indiana and went to Illinois I did not know a prafrie from an awful big clearing, and I did not have experience enough to keep my mouthushut, and I got branded as a "tenderfoot." Gentlemen, it made me hot. I left the country and struck Kansas, along with the spring winds. I made up my mind to play the old timer racket. I told everybody I never saw it blow so before. I prophesied open winters and cool, calm summers for seven long, windy, wet, dry, hot, cold, miserable years. I lied like a politician to all newcomers about the weather and everything else. I got so I rather liked to be called a liar. Why, sir, you have no idea what the weather in that country is. You can set up a windmill in Kansas and let it run one season, and then move it to any other country and it will run in calm weather from force of habit. You can plow up potatoes in the fall. and they other country and it will run in calm weather from force of habit. You can plow up potatoes in the fall, and they will blow up in a row along the south fence. I never saw a day in seven years that you could pick geese outside of a cellar. Bt I didn't kick. I argued that it would never rain, and that the country would be frightfully sickly if the wind should let up. But I couldn't stand everybe frightfully sickly if the wind should let up. But I couldn't stand everything. When the State went Prohibition one election and Democratic the next I got tired, and they said I was a d—tenderfoot and ought to be kept in a bandbox, labeled "Handle with care. Keep from heat and frost." I couldn't live among that kind of a set. "Where did you go then?" ventured a loafer.

"Go? Did you ever know a man who had any self-respect to go back East? I landed at a jim-crow place in Colorado at night, and ordered a burro to go up to a mining camp early the next morning. Gentlemen, I had seen rough times before, but it makes me sick and sore and stiff to think of that sick and sore and stiff to think of that trip. I had taken something to strengthen me before I started—mebbe a little too much. I don't know how I got over the first two miles. It was a nightmare, and my constitution was a wreck and my resolution to fall into the ways of the country and to ride anything that the natives did was busted. I led the burro on up to camp and found out that the man who rigged the animal up for me had mistaken me for an old-time prospector, and had put a pack-saddle on the critter.

"To the Congress: I had the honor on the 15th inst. to communicate to your honorable body certain correspondence and documents in relation to affairs in the Samoan Islands, and, having since received further dispatches from the Vice Consul at Apia, and the commander of the United States naval vessel Nipsic in those waters, I lose no time in laying them before your Laley. time in laying them before you. I also transmit herewith the full text of the instruction from Prince von Bismarck to the German Minister at this capital, which was communicated on the afternoon of the 25th inst. This appears to be an amplification of prior telegraphic instructions on the same channel, and which being set forth in a note to the Secretary of State from Count von Arco Valley, the German Alinister, of the 12th inst., was duly laid before Congress, the 12th inst., was duly laid before Congress, with my last message in relation to Samoan affairs. It is also proper to inform you that on Monday, the 28th inst., on the occasion of the communication of the note of the Prince Chancellor, the Secretary of State was given to understand by the German Minister that a propolition from his Government to that of the United States for a conference on the Samoan subject was on its way by mail, having left Berlin on the 20th inst., so that its arrival here in due course of mail can be looked for in a very short time. In reply to an inquiry from the Secretary of State as to whether the propocourse of mail can be looked for in a very short time. In reply to an inquiry from the Secretary of State as to whether the proposition referred to was a renewal of the joint conference between the United States, Germany and Great Britain which was suspended in July, 1887, or for consideration of Samoan affairs ab novo, the German Minister stated his inability to answer until the proposition which left Berlin on the 20th inst. should have been received. I shall hereafter communicate to Congress all information before me in relation to the Samoan status."

The correspondence accompanying this message of the President gives an official ecount of events in Samoa practically the me as they have been already outlined in same as they have been already outlined in the press dispatches. Regarding the seizure of a small boat carrying the American flag, Capt. Mullan of the Nipsic says: On January 1st he wrote to the Captain of the German vessel and received a reply to the effect that there was no flag flying on the boat. This is not true, as the boat was seen from the Consul's office, also by others in other parts of the town plainly flying the American flag. This is the usual way the Germans adopt for straightening out outrages they commit. In conclusion, the Captain says: "I am of the opinion that our Government should have at this point more vessels, especially at this time. I have Government should have at this point more vessels, especially at this time. I have caused to be posted in the town of Apia notice that the lives of all American citizens will find protection on board this vessel under my command, and that at the first intimation of an outburst of hostilities in Apia I shall land my force for the protection of their property."

MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS,
BERLIN, Jan. 23, 1880.

I have already notified Your Excellency that according to telegraphic communications from Apia on the 18th of December, a detachment of the German naval forces which had landed at the requisition of the Imperial Consul for the protection of German settlements which were endangered by conflicts between the native parties there, was attacked by armed Samoans belonging to the party of Chief Matara, This unprovoked attack is said to have taken place under the leadership of an American named Klein. On this occasion more than 50 German soldiers and officers were killed or wounded. In consequence of this we have been transplanted from the territory of mediatorial negotiations, by which the Imperial Consul in Apia was trying to reconcile the contending parties and for which he had sought the cooperation of his English and American colleagues, into a which he had sought the cooperation of his English and American colleagues, into a state of war with the assailants, to our regret. We shall carry on the centest which has been forced upon us by Mataafa and his followers with the utmost consideration for E-glish and American interests. Our military measures have in view only the punishment of the murderers of German soldiers, and the protection of our countrymen and their property. As they on their part are at war with Tamasese, our interference will necessarily assume the character of assistance to Tamasese. In the endeavor for the just punishment of a murderous crime, we hope for the cooperation of the treaty powers in Samoa in friendship with us. We ask the Government of the United States to be good enough to furnish the consuls and commanders of its ships of war in Samoa with suitable instructions. Our armed forces there are instructed to avoid and to prevent all injury to neutral commerce and property, and to adopt measures of reprisal and destruction only sgainst the followers of the party which initiated the contest against our troops by the murderous attack. We shall, of course, abide by the agreements with America and England with respect to Samoa, and pay due regard, under all circumstances, to the rights of those powers as established by treaty. I beg Your Excellency to bring this communication to Mr. Bayard's knowledge by reading it to him, and leave a copy of it with him if he requests it.

A CAUCUS.

A slimly attended caucus of the Republican Senators was held this morning to discuss the course to be followed in the treatment of the application of the Territories for admission. The discussion made it clearly appears that there has been little or no change in the position taken by the Republican Senators on the subject at the last session. A disposition was sh wn to

Mexico, letting in North and South Dakota, Montana and Wasoington. No formal action was taken. THE SHIPPING LEAGUE

The American Shipping and Industrial League began its annual session today. Gen. Pitkin of Louisiana made the opening address, which was a strong argument in favor of Government aid to American shipping by subsidy and by discrimination in its favor. He regarded the reëstablishment of American shipping as of the utmost importance to national prosperity.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), Jan. 30 .- [By th Associated Press.] Senate.—The Senate resumed consideration of the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation Bill, the question being on an Mr. Dolph said the question was one

Mr. Dolph said the question was one of special and local interest to the people of the Pacific Coast; that whatever might be thought as to the propriety of a general discussion of American rights and interests in the Samoan Islands and of the relations of the Government of the United States to the German Government, the discussion had proceeded so far as to render further discussion desirable. After a general description of the islands, Mr. Dolph reviewed the history of affairs since the United States Government first took an interest in the islands and recent occurrences which he said had involved the United States in a controversy with the German Government. He spoke of the treaty or convention of November, 1834, between Samoa and Germany as one which, it it had been executed, would have substantially secured to the German Government the entire control of the islands. The extensive provisions of that treaty and the powers conferred by it on Germany were entirely incompatible with the independence and autonomy of the native Government and inconsistent with American fleet sailed away this treaty had been repudiated by Mailetoa as having been signed under protest. As to Consul Greenbaum's treaty rights there. As soon as the derman fleet sailed away this treaty had been repudiated by Malietoa as having been signed under protest. As to Consul Greenbaum's action in raising the United States flag over the Samoan flag at Apia, the act had been, he said, promptly repudiated by Bayard and the repudiation announced to the German and English Governments, with the suggestion as to a protectorate.

Mr. Morgan st-ted that Mr. Bayard never committed the United States Government to the position that there should be either a separate or joint protectorate over the islands, not believing a protectorate entirely consistent with autonomy.

Coming down to the conference at Washington in July, 1887, Mr. Dolph spoke of the agreement that pending that conference the status quo should be observed.

Mr. Morgan asked him for his authority for the statement that the German Government agreed to observe the status quo.

Mr. Dolph replied that there may have been no such special agreement, but the observance of the status quo was necessarily impiled.

Mr. Dolph added that if Congress was to Implied.

Mr. Dolph added that if Congress was to interfere with the matter something very different from the pending amendments would be required. If he were asked what that was to be, he should say that Congress should direct the President to fusist upon a restoration by the German Government of the status quo at the time of the Washington conference, and to notify the German Government that the United States would not permit the Samoan Islands to pass Government that the United States would not permit the Samoan Islands to pass under control of any foreign nation, and their independent autonomy must be maintained. He saw no good reason why, if necessary and if requested by the Samoan people, an American protectorate should not be established over them. "And that," he said, "would be an entirely different thing from intervention as practiced by European powers on the continent of Europe."

His purpose was, he said, "to call attention to the fact that the proposed amendment was too feeble to answer the purpose. If we mean anything, let us signify it by our action. If we believe we should assert those rights as becomes a great and powerful Nation. I am not in favor of war. I know too well the calamities of war, but the humiliation of a great Nation in the face of an arrogant power is worse than war. I would give the President power to determine what our rights in the matter are, and power to assert those rights in a way that could not be mistaken. If we do this we may expect to maintain our rights and to see a restoration of the status quo. I would suggest an addition to the pending amendment of the words 'and for the protection of the rights of American citizens residing in said islands and to preserve the neutrality and independence of their people.' Then we will have said something, but if we do not put in some such declaration we leave the President exactly where he is now—in a position where he regards himself as powerless to vindicate the rights of the United States."

House.—The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Oklahoma Bill, the pending amendment being the one to prevent impairment of homestead rights of veteran soldiers and sailors.

Mr. Symes of Colorado said that as a member of the G.A.R. he rose to oppose the amendment. Some gentlemen who advocated the amendment must excuse him for saying that their actions showed that they were more anxious to defeat the bill than to grant special benefits to a few G.A.R. soldiers. The members of the Grand Army did not come before the House asking that 200 or 300 of them who might be able to go with the boomers into Oklahoma should have a present of $200 to $500 each, while thousands who are unable to go there and who were in want would receive nothing at all. While the Dependent Pension Bill remained vetoed, healthy, able-bodied members of the G.A.R. who were able to go to the wilds of Oklahoma and redeem the country did not want a present of $500 from the Government.

After further debate the amendment was

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Poor Prospect for the British Extradition Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—[By the Associated Press.] It is understood that the secret session of the Senate was consumed to day in discussing the British extradition treaty. It is gathered from the tone of today's discussion that there is a strong disposition among a number of Senators to recommit the treaty to the Committee on Foreign Relations, the effect of which, from the standpoint of the administration Senators, would be to kill it as far as this Congress is concerned. At any rate, when the Senate adjourned no date was fixed for continuing consideration of the treaty, and it is somewhat doubfful whether it will again be considered by the Senate as at present constitued.

Large crowds of strikers and sympathizers began to assemble early at the stables of the belt line. Additional police arrived and cleared the sidewalk. The excitement was at fever heat. It was said that if the cars started there would be bloodshed, because the strikers were getting desperate. Two thousand five hundred police are on duty. At 11 o'clock the strikers gathered at Bleecker and Carmine streets and overturned half a dozen wagons and compelled ashmen to dump loads on the track. At noon a Belt Line car left the stables escorted by 250 policemen. At Fifty-ninth street the tracks were found obstructed. The car returned to the barn.
Forty trips have been made on the Grandstreet line. The cars were followed by jeers, yells and some times showers of stones. Many strikers were drunk, and declared the cars must stop, even if lives are lost in doing it. It is rumored that the horse-shoers of the Sixth-avenue line have been called out.

The determined efforts of strikers to check the running of Third-avenue cars have been entirely unsuccessful, and this is a very disquieting feature to the strikers. Many of them are getting weak kneed. The car company today secured a large number of new men, and additional efforts to start the cars will be made in the morning.

The waiters in the Park Avenue Hotel this evening refused to serve food to the policemen who were sent in there, and the officers had to get it elsewhere. Judge Hilton, who controls the hotel, declared tenight that he would close up the house sooner than have a repetition of such work. Stones and other missiles fiew in volleys at the drivers and conductors, but a determined charge by the police dispersed the crowd, and the ringleaders were arrested. A Fourth-avenue car was attacked on Seventy-seventh street by a crowd hidden behind a brick pile. They stoned the car with bricks and stones, breaking all the windows but not injuring the occupants. Many of the strikers were paid off today, and there is a great deal of drunkenness tonight, which is very disquieting to the police.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

VERDUGO, Jan. 26.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Noting the frequent mention in THE TIMES of the lamentable fact that we are importing butter from Northern California, potatoes from Utah, and poultry and eggs from the frigid East, permit me to call at-tention to a few facts which are genertention to a few facts which are generally overlooked by writers who are not, nor have ever been, tillers of the soil in this section. In regard to butter, by many consumers the best butter obtainable here is popularly but erroneously supposed to come from San Luis Obispo. This idea was originated by merchants who import the northern butter, and in the course of time their most particular customers would call for it, and be content with nothing else. Meanwhile many farmers' wives and daughters in Los Angeles county are making butter equal to the best obtainable anywhere, the only thing that can truly be said against it being that, if made from milk furnished by alfalfafed cows, it is not quite so firm as the northern product, and will not keep so long in hot weather. This prejudice in favor of the imported article hurts considerably the sale of home-made butter. But that is not the worst feature in regard to the business. The farmer takes to a Los Angeles store a roll of the best butter today and receives for it from 49 to 50 cents, the city consumer buys the same roll at from 60 to it from 40 to 50 cents, the city con-sumer buys the same roll at from 60 to 70 cents, a clear profit to the grocer of 20 cents a roll! A rather liberal comsumer buys the same roll at from 60 to 70 cents a clear profils to the grocer of 20 cents a roll! A rather liberal commission, is it not? Surprise is expressed frequently at our importation in from Utah and Northern California of potatoes, and the farmer is advised to plant more potatoes here! The trouble about the potato crop here is this: that during the potato season the article is a drug in the market; farmers frequently haul into Los Angeles during the latter part of summer loads of as fine potatoes as were ever grown—and haul them home again for lack of a market! The proper thing to do then is, of course, to keep them three or four months until potatoes are less abundant. But the pesky things won't keep. There are lots of "infallible" rules for keeping them, but the fact remains—they don't keep! But, says your theoretical agricultural they are round. Here, again, facts are against that theory. It is not impossible, in some favored localities, but there are very few sections in which potatoes will mature between November and April; if the frost does not cut them down entirely they stand perfectly still and wait for warm weather. It is not wise to advise promiscuous planting of winter crops. The unsophisticated tenderfoot who does it is liable to reap disappointment only, and then revenge himself by anathematizing the country. In a few favored localities much can be accomplished in this line. Let them be utilized judiciously, and if anybody has decided to adopt the Sewell system of steamheating apparatus as rapidly as possible, and in a few days will little and in a few days will and the sum the receipe for keeping potatices until they will hering $20 and the termination to fit up all they are a sure-enough receipe for keeping potatices until they will hering $20 and the farmer and a real sure-enough receipe for keeping potatices until they will hering $20 and the farmer are very the sections in which gotation has a real sure-enough receipe for keeping potatices until they will hering $20 and the farmer and

California Waukesha! PURE WATER!

WAUKESHA WATER.
Clear, sparkling, agreeable to the eve and refreshing to the taste; one spring already yields 5,000,000 gallons per day, and other springs can, by development, be made to yield equal quantities. SIMI RANCHO! Cheap Lands. Goed Lands. Price and Terms to Encourage Settlers.

So much has been said and written about the high prices for ordinary farming and fruit land in Southern California that many Eastern people think that no good land can be had at less than $500 per acre in any good locality. But if you will call at the headquarters of Simi Land and Water Company you will find that you can buy well watered stock ranges at $5 to $15 per acre, and every one of these ranges contains more or less roof farming ranges at 15 to 115 per sore, and every one of these ranges contains more or less good farming land. You can buy first-class valley lands for $30 to 575 per acre, and small tracts of 10, 20 or 40 acres, for fruit farms, at about the same price. Colonies who want from 1000 to 5000 acres can be placed on one lands, suitable for dividing among their members, at £35 to 540 per acre. This company cares nothing for booms, and asks no inflated prices for their lands. We own nearly 100,000 acres, and,have a perfect and undisputed title. The object is to furnish good lands, to actual settlers, at prices within reach of any who can buy land at all, and on terms which will enable men of moderate means to acquire homes in as attractive and healthful part of Southern Californis. We do not claim to have the best land in the clate, and at present are not discretily on a railroad, but expect to be before long. James Kirkpatrick believes in taking the world easy, and, after dozing in our lovely sunshine, has reposed at night on flowery beds of ease. During the absence of Mrs. Green of Pasadena avenue, James took possession of the house on his own hook, and has been enjoying nightly fancy upholstery and laced pillows. Today he was arrested and remanded to the calaboose for a hearing.

A Reform School Wanted.

[Riverside Press.]

The State of California has no proper place for the confinement of boys found guilty of crimes, and it is now necessary to punish them by confinement in prison with old and hardened offenders. This results in placing these boys, often in prison for their first offense, beyond the pale of future reformation. In this way we are alding directly in building up a serious criminal class which will always be costly to control. The State of California had better appropriate $250,000 as a State reform school, grounds, milding, and cost of maintenance for a pracy, than to squander it on a Longe exhibit. A reform school is an

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Los Angeles, Jan. 30 .- To the Edin the article which appeared in this morning's TIMES, expresses his disbelief in the efficacy of prayer. Let me let in the efficacy of prayer. Let me cite one little instance, as given by Rev. DeWitt Talmage in a recent sermon, which would show that Our Father does hear and answer prayer, that He is not a God afar off, who has peopled the world with human beings—children of His own forming, and then turned from them with an ear deaf to their cries, and a heart dead to their needs. He may not always answer us in the romes, and a heart dead to their needs. He may not always answer us in the way we look for, but always in the way that is best for our needs. Says the Rev. Talmage:

"In a bank not far from our great metropolis—a village bank—an officer could not balance his accounts. He had worked at them day after day, night after night, and he was sick nigh unto death as a result. He knew he had not taken one farthing from that bank, but somehow, for some reason inscrutable then, the accounts wouldn't balance. The time rolled on, and the morning of the day when the books should pass under the inspection of the other officers arrived and he felt himself in awful peril, conscious of his The overland arrived today, only about five hours late.

Last evening between 7 and 8 o'clock aman named Mills while returning to his home was held up by three men and told to produce all the effects be had. Mr. Mills, however, was equal to the occasion, and knocked down two of his antagonists in short order. In the meliee one of his assailants opproached him with a knife, cutting his coat and vest in shreds, but luckliy not injuring him in the least. The "hold-up" took place on Old Fair Oaks mear Mountain svenue. Before the scuffle could be terminated Mr. Mills beat a hasty retreat to his home and his assailants to town. The spot is a lionely one and without police surveildance. Time and time again have we had the officers of the law should extend their beats from the heart of the city, but to no purpose. When shall we have a mounted police force?

Rev. Sam Jones, the renowned revivalist, took a running jump from Los Angeles this morning and occupied the platform in the Methodist Tabernacle, which was crowded almost to suffocation. Sam entertained his auditors with a résumé of Christ's good works, and closed with an appeal to parents to look out for the weifare of their children. Mr. Jones's delivery was not up to his usual efforts, but xwhen we consider his unceasing labor among the unsaved of Los Angeles, we amust say he did well.

On land owned by Dr. J. H. Martin of this city, and located between Los Angeles and the ocean, a crop of corn was raised last season which yielded 120 bushels to the acre. The crop was planted after the last rain of the season, and it never had a particle of irrigation. I admit that this may have been an exceptional crop; but it is undeniable that Los Angeles county can beat any section of the East even for corn-raising. What is the matter with raising and canning our own corn, instead of sending our money to New England for it?

Again, the beat and most popular brand of canned milk sold in this market comes from New Jersey. And yet we have right here one of the best dairy countries in the world.

Such facts as these speak volumes toward encouraging people to settle on these fertile lands and cultivate a soil whose productive capacity not one man in a hundred as yet appreciates.

The proposed sugar-beet factory business in Pomona resolves itself into this: Can we furnish a factory, such as Spreckels wants, with 2000 gallons of water per minute? And have we soil sufficiently free from gravel for the planting of the vegetable? Anyhow, the factory could not be built here, no matter how fast the work was pushed, before the spring of 1890.

A Report That Should Be Read,

"A recent analyzation in Philadelphie by a celebrated chemist of ten popular brands of sar-saparilla discloses the astonianing fact that these ten samples of blood purifiers (?) contained in the aggregate sizizes different minerals, eleven of which were active poisons. Iodide of potash was discovered in every sample, mercury was found in all but twe, while arenne existed in six of the ten brands. Not one beand was the pure article."

A reporter took the above clipping to E. W. Joy, the manufacturer of Joy's Yegetable Sarsaparilis. Mr. Joy exhibited no surprise. He said druggists knew it. He said he long ago saw the crying need for a safe and absolutely pure wegstable preparation of Sarsaparilis.

How Men Die.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the innerent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many, however, have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a cough, cold or any trouble of the throat or lungs, give that old and well-known remedy—Boschee's German Syrup a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say of it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

ANNUAL TRADE NUMBER,

-CONTAINING-

A COMPLETE REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

Fifty-six Large Pages. Equivalent to a Two Hundred Page Book.

The Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES, now ready, is the most complete and in teresting publication of that character ever published in Los Angeles. NOTABLE FRATURES—It contains a business review of the year, embraoing a great mass of valuable facts bearing on the city and county; a thorough exposition of our natural resources—mineral, vegetable, commercial and climatic: a review of the rise s of progress of the boom, with solid proofs that the country is now in better condition than it was during the height of the real-estate excitement; a carefully compiled exposition of the varied inducements which Southern California offers to the health-seeker, the homeseeker and the tourist, besides a number of interesting and valuable special articles on pertinent subjects. It contains more solid information about the country than could be crowded into the compass of a hundred long letters, and for a few cents and the expenditure of a few minutes' times in writing the address you can send a friend more is formation than you could write in a month, even if you had all the facts at hand. For a dollar you can supply ten families in the frozen East with information that may lead them to join the army of pilgrims to Southern California, to their own and this country sadvantage. Thus, whether viewed from the standpoint of friendship or self-interes: it is ill be seen that no better use can be made of a dollar than by purchasing the rewith the copies of the great Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES. Not one-tenth of the pleasure can be bestowed in any other way for the same amount of money.

HAS THIS AN EQUAL?

A High-grade Sewing Machine

AT MANUFACTURERS' PRICES.

"MIRROR" PREMIUM High-Arm

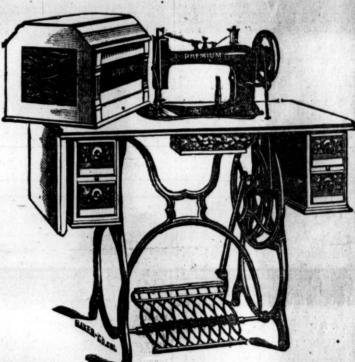

SEWING MACHINE

Half Cabinet, Five Drawer, $60 Machine,

-FOR-

$25.50 =:= $25.50

With Copy of the WEEKLY MIRROR One Year.

The manufacturers claim for THE PREMIUM that it has been improved and simple its details by the best mechanical talent in America, who, with unlimited resortheir command, have combined only that which is practicable and dispensed with all atted surroundings generally found in other machines. It is the simplest machine having the fewest parts, all strong, and with case-his barings. Being free from complication it is easily eard for, never gets out of order always ready for use. The most inexperienced can readily manage it. It has all the appliances and conveniences that go to make up the sum of excellences, successfully ing simplicity, durability, speed, strength and beauty, producing a machine uneque case of management and espacity for wide range of work.

THE PREMIUM HIGH-ARM

Is light-running and noiseless, uses A STRAIGHT, SELF-SETTING NEEDLE, and makes the double-thread "Look Stitch." It is the perfection of mechanism for hemming, felling planting, cording, braiding, seaming, tucking, ruffling, gathering, embroidering, hemstite ing, quiiting, etc.

It is adapted to every variety of sewing, from the lightest musiins to the heaviest cloths, and will do a greater range of work than any other machine.

The woodwork is unique and attractive in style and substantially made from well seasoned and carefully selected material. Its elegant finish and rich trimmings are in good taste, and sarmonize with the excellent workmanship of the machine.

Far more handsome and ornamental than the ordinary style of woodwork, it is at the same time of equal durability, utility and good finish.

WARRANTEE—The usual five-year warrantee is given to us by the manufacturors, and we in turn guarantee every machine to give full and entire satisfaction.

NO RISK WHATEVER.

So great is our confidence and knowledge of the superiority of the PREMIUM HIGH-ARM that we further agree with every purchaser to REFUND THE MONEY in case full satisfaction is not given by the machine in every particular after a month's trial. Tailors, Dressmakers. Seamstresses, manufacturers of clothing, shirts, skirts, corsets, umbrellas, etc., will find one of its best recommendations is its special adaptation to their wants and range of work.

The Automatic Tension,

When once properly regulated, will rarely need to be changed, and as a general rule, the whole range of family sowing can be done without any change of tension whatever. This result is obtained by nicely adjusted springs, that will accommodate themselves to the size of thread used.

OUR CLAIMS FOR SUPERIORITY

ARE AS FOLLOWS:

A Device whereby the bobbin can be wound without running the machine saves the ng work and attachments while the bobbin is being filled. A Scale for Regulating The length of stitch, which enables the operator to readily ascertain the length of stitch without teating

A Spring-Tension Cylinder Shuttle, Holding a bobbin that carries a but one hole to thread through, making it the most easily threaded shuttle in use. The tension may be changed without removing the shuttle from the machine. tension may be changed without removing the shuttle from the machine.

The Double Feed of werk than any other. It has great power and never fails to perform its duty—will feed the lightest and heaviest goods with equal precision, and will cross seams and bard places without changing lentgh of stitch or missing stitchors.

Light Running. On account of the simple mechanical devices employed in its concline, and is almost noiseless. It is the simplest RASISTOPERATED, best made and most elegantly ornamented machine in the world, combining every requisite to produce perfect work.

Inviting a practical test of this machine, we distinctly claim for it a great superiority in plan, material, workmanship, and in its performance. It is unquestionably the most popular teachine now in the market.

-THE OUTFIT.

hach machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece) I we've Needles, Six Hobbins. HE SAVED BY LIFE.

I consulted a great many physicians: none gave me any hope. At last I went to see one who had considerable reputation in the treatment of lung diseases. He gave me a thorough examination, and said my right lung was badly ulcerated, but if the disease could be kept from extending to the left, which was probable, I could be cured. I took new courage, and commenced treatment. I had had many severe bemorrhages from the lungs; was so debilitated that I was a mere skeleton; could not sleep at night for the cough and expectoration of mucus, and during the day I feit that my efforts to g t up the corruption must disgust my nearest friends. I could not sit up more than half of the time, and was unable to take any exercise on account of shortness of breath. My appetite was poor, and food would often distress me greatly, and nightsweats were taking what little strength I had left. I am satisfied that Dr. W. N. Davis, 45% North Spring street, saved my life, as I could see that from the first my strength increased, my breath became longer, and I gained in fiesh so as to astonish even myself. I am in perfect health now, and have scarcely had a day's sickness for over a year. My cough is gone, all the distressing symptoms have disappeared, even to the hawking and spitting of mucus from cotarrh in the head. I make this statement for the benefit of those who are troubled as I was, and to perhaps convince them that they are not past hope.
